

6:30 pm

1. Pizza!

Courtesy of Lauren

6:36 pm

2. Perspective vs. Standpoint

"Perspective does not care for what the seer knows or how the seer thinks of themselves as a kind of person in the world." It is neutral and reproducible. Standpoint is a way of naming how two people may have common perspective but see differently based on how they identify themselves, life experiences, and visual experiences.

6:46 pm

3. 2/6 Recap

Barry: Emotions & basics of writing (parts of speech) through drawing. STEM students need help with composing visuals and writing.

Poster Draft

Due Date

March 6

6:53 pm

4. Poster + Project Idea Exchange

"Do good work. Account for that reflectively by noticing the choices you made." - Derek.

Posters are "show and tell." It needs to be informed by a scholarly text, but not too many researched concepts.

Think Brooke Notes.

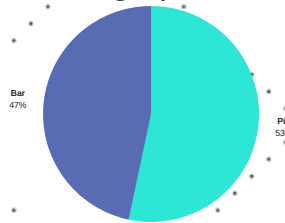

"You're either going to get an A or you're not going to get an A." "The not A is a B."

7:55 pm

5. Stop-Draw by Justin

Pie charts: 8

Bar graphs: 7

8:17 pm

6. Dillard

Most concerned with senses, seeing with an untrained or trained eye, and scale. Related to "it."

8:42 pm

7. Drucker

Historical, dense lit review on defining a field.

9:06 pm

8. Optional Class Meeting 2/27

Cultivate, 307 N River St, Ypsilanti, MI 48198
Have a table from 6:30-8

Derek's Book Talk

3/3

Wayne State

Foveal Rhetorics

Focus on just this for now;
don't get distracted by the periphery.

Scribe Notes 2/13 Brought to you by Geneva & Lauren